Feds firm on G20 claims

Had pegged $10M to help Toronto businesses recover losses Less than one-fifth doled out to date

The federal government has rejected almost half of the claims made by downtown businesses for losses incurred as a result of last summer's G20 summit.

Of the 367 claims submitted by Toronto business owners, 169 have been accepted, though not necessarily for the amount owners were seeking.

The claims totalled more than $11 million, but less than $2 million has been handed out. Another 161 claims were wholly rejected; 37 more are still awaiting decision.

"Basically, they've blown me off," said chef Mark McEwan, owner of Bymark restaurant in the TD Centre on Wellington Street West.

McEwan said he boarded up his restaurant for 10 days — a full week before the summit — and lost $170,000 in revenue. But he only filed a claim for $26,500, the cost of disassembling and storing the 140-seat patio, along with fortifying the restaurant, which he says he was "forced" to do by security officials. The government rejected his claim.

"They told me I didn't have to close. What do you mean I didn't have to close? They basically closed the whole neighbourhood down."

The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade set up the compensation process to lessen the financial burden caused by the summit's extraordinary security measures, which effectively shut down parts of the downtown core for an entire weekend.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Compensation

- The weekend also saw unprecedented vandalism in the city. The compensation program, however, only covers lost revenue, not repair or renovation costs.
- In order to be eligible for compensation, a business had to stay open for the duration of the summit, provide at least three years of financial records and be located within the security perimeter or the "external affected areas" — hot spots of unrest, such as Queen Street West between Yonge and Spadina, parts of Bay Street and University Avenue, and sites near the Eastern Avenue detention centre.

Budget chief gets his piggy bank back

The budget chief's piggy bank is back, the city council culprit unmasked.

In the end, it was video evidence that undid Adam Vaughan. He as much as admitted Thursday evening that he swiped colleague Mike Del Grande's red plastic piggy bank during Wednesday's council meeting, hid it, then went back to the council chamber Thursday morning and moved it to Del Grande's desk. That, despite the fact he told Toronto Star reporters Wednesday and Thursday that he had nothing to do with the caper that had city hall and Twitter buzzing with speculation and ham jokes.

Counselling part of TTC's suicide prevention program

Initiative called Crisis Link includes 141 new subway phones linking to Distress Centres of Toronto Counsellors can ask TTC control to stop trains

MARIANA IONOVA/FOR METRO

▶ Last year, Toronto lawyer Lindsay Hill and her husband, Jean-Pierre Boutros, adviser to TTC chair Karen Stintz, spoke out in an effort to persuade the TTC to install platform edge doors that would prevent people from jumping on the tracks. The TTC was interested in the initiative, but there is currently no funding for the $5-million project.

MARIANA IONOVA
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

The TTC launched a suicide prevention program Thursday in partnership with Distress Centres of Toronto and Bell Canada in a bid to help those in crisis.

The initiative, called Crisis Link, will include 200 posters and 141 new payphones in subway stations around the city that encourage people in crisis to call the Distress Centres of Toronto when they are in need of support.

The program was inspired by Lindsay Hill, a Toronto lawyer who spoke out about her own battle with mental illness last year in an effort to persuade the TTC to implement suicide prevention measures.

"There are very dark moments in some people's lives. If this phone had been there, I would have been very grateful for it," Hill told reporters after the announcement of the initiative.

The payphones will be installed by the end of July and will have a direct dial button connecting the caller to a trained counsellor. The call will be free and confidential.

The counsellor will assess the caller and, if they are at risk, TTC's Transit Control Centre will be contacted and emergency procedures will be invoked.

These include holding trains before they enter the station, slowing trains down and dispatching emergency personnel.

The program will cost $107,000 annually.

There have been seven subway suicides this year and there were another 26 incidents in 2010.

MENTAL HEALTH

Crisis Link may defuse stigma, says nurse

The TTC's new initiative may not only prevent tragedies but could also remove some of the stigma surrounding mental health, according to Krysia Theriault, advanced practice nurse educator at Toronto General Hospital's psychiatry department.

Theriault, who recently developed an e-learning course on suicide prevention, said Crisis Link is valuable in generating open dialogue about mental health, suicide and prevention.

"We need to speak about (mental illness) more openly in our society and this initiative is a great way to do that," she said.

"Hopefully, when people see those (help line) numbers all over the subway, they will reach out to counsellors who can help them."

MARIANA IONOVA

Reaching out

- Suicide accounts for 24 per cent of all deaths among 15- to 24-year-olds and 16 per cent among 25- to 44-year-olds, according to the Canadian Mental Health Association.
- Distress Centres. Of the 120,000 distress calls counsellors handle each year, 10 to 15 per cent are from people talking about suicide.

City to hunt out-of-province ticket scofflaws

Toronto's "no parking" signs might as well include a caveat: "Unless you happen to be an American or Albertan or Quebecer."

The city government, like Ontario's other municipalities, has no way to pursue out-of-province ignorers of parking rules. And the rule-ignorers know it: About 90 per cent decline to pay their Toronto tickets.

Following the lead of the for-profit 407 toll highway, Toronto is attempting to lay down the law.

If the price is right, the parking department will hire a company to find the home addresses of out-of-province scofflaws beginning in the fall. That will allow a collections agency to pester them.

$3M Ignored tickets cost more than $3 million per year.

"This is more about bringing fairness into the system than the money," said manager of parking operations Anthony Fabrizi.

The city issued about 2.8 million parking tickets in 2010, collecting on about 80 per cent of them. But of about 115,000 tickets issued to people with out-of-province plates, only about 11,500 were paid.

New bike plan upsets cyclists

Cycling advocates are unhappy with a city plan that falls short of a full downtown network of separated lanes and would potentially paint over two existing lanes in Scarborough.

"We're disappointed with the lack of progress in the report," said Andrea Garcia, spokeswoman for the Toronto Cyclists Union, referring to a report going to the public works committee next week.

"We don't see it as bold enough to address the needs of hundreds of thousands of Torontonians who ride bicycles."

Recommendations in the report include a request to install separated bike lanes on Bloor Street from Sherbourne Street to Broadview Avenue this year.

Gang leader sentenced for attempted murder

One of Toronto's most notorious killers was sentenced Thursday to two concurrent 18-year prison terms for the "despicable and cowardly" attempted murders of two innocent teenagers, while prosecutors dropped all remaining charges against him.

The decision means Tyshan Riley, 28, a Galloway gang leader, will not be prosecuted for the first-degree murder of Eric Mutiisa, 23, nor will he stand trial in the fatal shooting of Omar Hortley, 21.

'Expert' testimony swayed case: Grandfather

A judge botched a child custody decision because of a supposed expert who passed himself off as a psychologist, a grandfather told a fraud trial in Oshawa.

The judge, who took custody away from the grandparents of the little girl, was "deceived" into believing Gregory Carter was a qualified psychologist, David Bulmer testified Thursday, noting the judge referred to Carter as "doctor" 31 times. Carter, 64, is a psychological associate, a step below a psychologist.

Women 'face unique disease risks'

New report outlines ways to improve health care in Toronto — by emphasizing biological differences
Women experience more hypertension and diabetes than men City's diversity also a big issue, agency says

PHOEBE HO
FOR METRO

Liz Woodburn waited 18 months for a clear diagnosis of her cardiac symptoms.

With a family history of cardiovascular disease, Woodburn was anxious for an answer.

But it took months before she secured an appointment with a specialist.

"The diagnosis wasn't readily obvious, so that resulted in my having some inconclusive test results and that led to consultations with more specialists, more tests and extended wait periods," said Woodburn.

"It caused a lot of anxiety and frustration while I was waiting for all my results."

Woodburn's experience in Toronto's health-care system is among many documented in the Ontario Women's Health Framework, a report released by Echo, an agency of the Ontario Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care that outlines actions to improve women's health.

"Toronto has a large diversity in the population and so one of the big issues in Toronto is meeting the needs of different groups," said Echo CEO Pat Campbell.

According to the framework, some diseases manifest themselves differently in men and women.

For instance, women with cardiovascular disease tend to have a different risk profile than men, reporting more hypertension, diabetes and diastolic dysfunction.

The biological differences along with social and environmental factors contribute to the unique health experiences in men and women, the report says.

Ways to change

The framework introduces a three-pronged approach to improve the system for women:

- Reduce gendered health inequities.
- Implement systems that strengthen the reliability and quality of care.
- Make planning and accountability reflect the priorities of women.

Report cites panic in child-care jungle

Toronto mothers feel panic and a sense of hopelessness when faced with finding affordable, high-quality child care, says a new report set to be released at city hall Friday.

Quality, location and cost are the most important factors when looking for child care, says the report, based on a survey of almost 800 mothers this spring.

Long waiting lists for spots, both subsidized and full-fee, are "by far the biggest concern," says the report by Mothers For Child Care, believed to be the first mother-led group to examine the issue.

"The current approach seems to cause parents a great deal of stress as they are required to place their names on multiple lists — paying a fee to do so in some instances — and wait years to secure a space in a licensed municipal or non-profit child-care facility," says the report.

The group, supported by more than two dozen non-profit agencies including the YWCA, Campaign 2000 and the Toronto Coalition for Better Child Care, is urging municipal, provincial and federal governments to "step up their role" to build a comprehensive system of regulated, high-quality, affordable care.

18,000
About 80 per cent of survey respondents didn't have a daycare subsidy. More than 18,000 Toronto children are waiting for subsidies.

"Mothers, as a group, still have primary responsibility for child care, yet their voices and concerns aren't heard in debates on child care in Toronto," said Alex Mandelis, co-ordinator of the group, launched this past Mother's Day.

The high cost of regulated care is also taking a toll on families, with many parents paying fees that are higher than their mortgages, says the report, being released Sunday to coincide with Father's Day.

As a result, many middle-class families are using unregulated babysitting or teaming up with other mothers to hire nannies.

About 68 per cent of Ontario mothers whose youngest child is younger than three are in the workforce, while the percentage jumps to 79 per cent for those whose youngest child is younger than five. However, there are licensed child-care spaces for just 21 per cent of Toronto children younger than 10, the report notes.

A mom's ordeal

- YWCA project manager Amélie Roy, 32, put her name on seven daycare waiting lists in 2009 when she was pregnant.
- "Sometimes I had to pay between $30 and $50 just to put my name on a list."
- When Roy still had not secured a spot by February — a month before she was to go back to work — she was forced to look into licensed home-based care.
- She eventually found an acceptable spot.

School board takeover cost $916K

Taking control of the troubled Toronto Catholic school board cost the province more than $900,000, according to documents released Thursday by a trustee.

John Del Grande, who obtained the figures from the provincial government under a Freedom of Information request, said that from a report on trustee spending abuses the province racked up a $916,176.23 bill.

"That's on top of the normal costs of running the school board," he said.

The board was placed under supervision after trustees failed to balance the budget, as required under the Education Act.

But it also came amid revelations of trustee spending abuses, a "culture of entitlement" and illegal benefits.

Education Minister Leona Dombrowsky said the cost was more than worth it.

"If you go back to 2006, the board had a deficit of $18 million, the next year $16 million and in 2008, $9 million. This is a board that couldn't balance its books year over year over year," she said.

She added, "The board now has policies that will no longer allow for the egregious spending (by trustees) — like $2,000 on a lamp."

Cash-hit centre gets city help

The city has hammered out a temporary solution to keep cash-strapped Progress Child Care Centre open for now.

City managers are offering the non-profit Scarborough daycare 100 per cent of its funding for July, about $120,000.

Usually, the daycare — in the Kennedy and Ellesmere roads area — would receive 75 per cent of funding at the beginning of the month, and the remainder at the end.

Elaine Baxter-Trahair, Toronto's general manager of children's services, said the city's proposal is being sent to the daycare's board for approval.

Web better at sex ed than parents: Report

Almost 40 per cent of teens polled said it's not dangerous to smoke while on the birth control pill

Almost 40 per cent of teens who answered a questionnaire about their sexual knowledge said the Internet is more useful than parents in providing this kind of information.

And almost one-quarter of respondents rated the Internet higher than their high school sexual education classes.

About 60 per cent couldn't identify Canada's age of sexual consent, which is 16, and almost 40 per cent overestimated how effective male condoms are when they're used as a sole method of birth control.

The results were unveiled Thursday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Paediatric Society in Quebec City. The project was an undertaking of Dr. Maya Kumar, a pediatric resident, and colleagues at the University of Western Ontario in London.

"The findings from my study seem to indicate that teenagers are relying on the Internet as a source of sexual information, and now we have a responsibility to make sure that the information they get is accurate and of good quality," Kumar said.

It was a small study of just 200 teens ranging in age from 14 to 17, who had all completed their secondary school sexual education requirements. Questionnaires were administered over several months last summer and fall at the pediatric emergency department of a tertiary care hospital with a "fairly good catchment size" in southwestern Ontario, taking in kids from urban and rural areas, private and public schools, and religious-based and secular schools.

Government applauds sex survey

The press secretary to Ontario Education Minister Leona Dombrowsky said the research is welcome.

"We agree that it is important for students to have accurate and relevant information," Mike Feenstra wrote in an email.

"Health information contained in the curriculum must also be delivered in a clear and accessible way to students and that's why we offer many resources to help teachers deliver this important information."

STUDY COUNTERS CLAIM

A new survey is countering views that social networks isolate people.

According to the study from the Pew Research Center's Internet and American Life Project, Facebook users are more trusting, have more close friends and get more social support than their non-networked counterparts.

The survey released Thursday found that, when all else is equal, people who use Facebook have nine per cent more close ties in their overall social network than other Internet users.

Facebook users are also more politically engaged than people who are not on Facebook, says the survey, conducted among 2,255 adults from Oct. 20 to Nov. 28, 2010.

New phase of recovery for politician

Hospital release marks milestone in Rep. Giffords' rehab from shooting Intensive therapy to continue

A U.S. congresswoman who was shot in the head in January has moved into her husband's suburban Houston home, beginning a new phase in her recovery that will allow her to blend daily trips to the hospital with a more routine family life.

Rep. Gabrielle Giffords' departure Wednesday from Houston's TIRR Memorial Hermann indicates she has made enough progress in her recovery from a devastating gunshot wound to be released from the hospital. But she still has a long, arduous journey ahead of her.

She struggles to speak and walk, and will continue daily, intensive therapy for months, and possibly years. Whether she will ever recover enough to resume her congressional duties is still unknown.

"Anyone who knows Gabby knows that she loves being outside. Living and working in a rehab facility for five months straight has been especially challenging for her."

MARK KELLY, GIFFORDS' HUSBAND

Yet doctors, her astronaut husband Mark Kelly and experts who have been observing Giffords' recovery emphasize that going home is a key milestone and could help stimulate her progress.

"Anyone who knows Gabby knows that she loves being outside," Kelly said in a statement released by the hospital. "Living and working in a rehab facility for five months straight has been especially challenging for her."

SUSAN WALSH/P.K. WEIS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ These photos show U.S. Rep. Gabrielle Giffords three days before she was shot, left, and May 17 at TIRR Memorial Hermann Hospital in Houston, the day before she underwent her cranioplasty.

Giffords will still go to the hospital each day where she will participate in speech, music, physical and occupational therapy with the same team that has treated her since she arrived in Houston in late January.

Now, however, at the end of each day "she will be with her family," Kelly said.

The congresswoman will move to Kelly's home in League City, a suburb near the Johnson Space Center, where she will have 24-hour help from a home-care assistant.

The 41-year-old was shot Jan. 8 in the left side of the brain, the part that controls speech and communication, while meeting with constituents in Tucson, Ariz. Six people were killed and 13 wounded in the attack, including the lawmaker and members of her staff.

Her release from the hospital was met with excitement.

"When I went home from the hospital after surgery, I was so nervous, but boy it's wonderful to be home in your own surroundings, to be able to have things on your own schedule," said Ron Barber, a staffer who also survived the shooting.

"I'm sure it'll be uplifting and healing for her, too," he said.

Jordan Grafman, director of the Traumatic Brain Injury Research Laboratory at the Kessler Foundation Research Center in West Orange, N.J., said being around family often motivates patients.

He warned, however, that the congresswoman is far from healed and has a lifetime of recovery ahead of her.

"Often, you can do many things for yourself but not everything. That's not unusual after a severe traumatic brain injury," Grafman said, explaining why she would need professional help at home. "It's not unusual to be released before complete independence and you may never achieve complete independence."

Number sense is child's play

U.S. study involving babies presents evidence that numerical abilities are innate, though approximate

PETER MACDIARMID/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Ron Mueck's Big Baby sculpture appears to look at a visitor to the Masterpieces Exhibition at Christie's earlier this month in London, England. Researchers at Johns Hopkins University suggest that infants have a knack for numbers and can perform rapid estimations.

At six months of age, babies might not know how to express themselves through language, but it turns out they have an innate knack for numbers, a new study suggests.

Researchers at Johns Hopkins University found that infants were able to recognize whether the number of happy faces shown on a computer screen matched a number of sound tones played to the infants just before they were shown the images.

In one experiment, babies were played four sound tones and then shown four happy faces on a computer screen. The procedure was then repeated, but instead of four happy faces appearing on screen, which would have corresponded to the number of beeps, the researchers showed the babies eight happy faces.

"When I take a quick look at lineups in the grocery store, I don't count how many people are lining up, but I get a gut sense of the number. That's what babies are doing ... They have not yet learned to count, they cannot represent numbers precisely, but they can form these gut, intuitive numerical estimations."

LISA FEIGENSON, LEAD AUTHOR OF THE STUDY

"What we found was that babies looked significantly longer at the mismatch, as though they were surprised, as though they were expecting to see four things because they had just heard four sounds," said Lisa Feigenson, a professor of psychological and brain sciences at Johns Hopkins and lead author of the study.

Researchers conducted experiments with 24 babies, all of whom were within about one week of being six months old. Feigenson said the age limit was imposed partly to control for linguistic development, which would be more advanced in older infants. The results suggest infants are able to perform rapid estimations akin to adults who view two checkout lines at a grocery store before deciding which one to join.

But there are limits to this ability. The researchers found that unless the number of happy faces was at least twice as large as the number of sound tones the babies heard, the infants could not distinguish the numerical difference. Such results show our innate numerical abilities are approximate, Feigenson said.

The ultimate goal of the experiments, she said, is to determine if this early ability to recognize numerical differences is the foundation of human mathematical abilities.

Cleaning up their city and reputation

Around 1,000 show up at Vancouver's riot site to help clean Broken windows turn into impromptu shrine

Embarrassment and anger over the Stanley Cup riot brought volunteers to Vancouver's downtown Thursday in a massive effort to clean the city's streets and its soiled reputation.

"I'm clearing up other peoples' mess," said Annabel Heath. "I'm from the U.K. and this is my safe place. It shouldn't be ruined by other people being stupid."

Tim McMillan, with the department of sanitation, provided volunteers with equipment.

"It sounds like close to 1,000 people showed up, and the city is as clean as I've ever seen it," he said.

Toni Schmader, professor of psychology at the University of B.C., blamed the riot on the convergence of three elements — emotions, booze and some thugs — along with crowd behaviour that strips a person's individuality.

"People are much more likely to follow along with what others are doing in a crowd."
TONI SCHMADER, PSYCHOLOGY PROFESSOR

"We feel like part of this massive something and that makes us feel unaccountable for our actions," Schmader explained. He added the fuel for the riot was the heavy emotional investment that people make in their sports teams. For a Canadian city, the seventh game of the Stanley Cup final is about as big as it gets. The 100,000-plus crowd was charged up and ready for action.

The addition of booze to that fuel — many people took the day off and spent the lead-up to the game drinking in bars — resulted in something called alcohol myopia, changing the way people process information and pushing the long-term consequences from the mind's of people.

The final ingredient, Schmader said, were rabble-rousers that came downtown intentionally looking to spark trouble.

Wednesday riot worse than 1994, officials say

The riot that followed the Vancouver Canucks' Game 7 loss to the Boston Bruins resulted in 15 cars being torched, nearly 100 arrests and scores of people sent to hospital.

One man was seriously injured after falling off an overpass.

Vancouver police Chief Jim Chu said there were about three times as many rioters than in the previous Stanley Cup riot 17 years ago.

"I was out in '94 and I've seen more damage ... than in '94," Murray Wightman, the manager of city operations, said Thursday morning.

Investigators are reviewing video and photographic evidence from the public to identify suspects.

Inching toward progress in Libya

Renewed diplomatic efforts to halt Libya's civil war appeared to be gaining momentum Thursday as NATO airstrikes once again hammered Moammar Gadhafi's stronghold of Tripoli.

Officials in the capital say they are open to international efforts that would bring an end to four months of fighting between forces loyal to Gadhafi and the rebels.

One of Gadhafi's sons told an Italian newspaper that while his father would not seek exile, elections under international supervision could offer a way out.

Settlement freeze still being sought

Demand for halt in Israeli construction is as big a worry as Hamas's role in Palestinian unity government: U.S.

The Palestinians are sticking to their demand for an Israeli settlement construction freeze in the West Bank, Palestinian negotiator Saeb Erekat said Thursday, complicating U.S. President Barack Obama's latest peace drive.

Obama recently outlined his vision of two states based on the pre-1967 war lines, with mutually agreed land swaps. The U.S. president's call for talks did not mention a new settlement freeze, and U.S. officials have indicated it is not essential to the restarting of talks.

The latest round of peace talks broke down in September, just three weeks after their launch, with the expiration of an Israeli moratorium on settlement building in the West Bank.

"All that we want is a two-state solution based on the '67 borders and stopping settlement activities."
SAEB EREKAT, PALESTINIAN NEGOTIATOR

The Palestinians have refused to negotiate without a new one that also includes east Jerusalem. Israel is demanding talks without preconditions, and says settlements should be one of the topics discussed.

Since the breakdown, Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas has agreed to reconcile with Gaza's Hamas militants and has forged ahead with plans to seek UN recognition for a state, with or without a peace deal with Israel.

The United States opposes the move and has the power to veto the effort at the United Nations Security Council. It is not clear yet whether the U.S. will exercise its veto power.

Erekat said Abbas told American diplomats the Palestinians were going ahead with recognition at the UN in September.

Resigning hard for Weiner

U.S. congressman took a leave of absence, retreating to a treatment facility after scandal broke last week Party pressured him to step down

RICHARD DREW/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. congressman Anthony Weiner announces his resignation Thursday from Congress in Brooklyn, N.Y.,

U.S. congressman Anthony Weiner announced his resignation Thursday, done in by lewd photos he took of himself, sent to women online and then lied about after being caught.

Party leaders have been pressing him to resign so Democrats could resume positioning themselves for the 2012 U.S. election campaign without constant criticism from Republicans on moral grounds.

"I make this apology to my neighbours and my constituents, but I make it particularly to my wife," he said, reading from a brief statement in New York City's Brooklyn borough.

Weiner's wife was absent as he announced his decision, as she was 10 days ago when he admitted having sent inappropriate messages and photos to several women online.

Thursday's crowd included hecklers and radio shock jocks, vying for attention at what became a New York media event.

"I'm here today to again apologize for the personal mistakes I have made and the embarrassment I have caused."
ANTHONY WEINER

Weiner said he had hoped to remain in U.S. Congress, but conceded his predicament had made that impossible.

Instead, he said he would resign "so my colleagues can get back to work, my neighbours can choose a new representative and ... that my wife and I can continue to heal from the damage I have caused." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Expect cheques in mail

Postal workers may be back on the job next week with legislation

Some two million Canadians will find social-assistance cheques in their mailboxes Monday despite the ongoing dispute between Canada Post and its locked-out employees that has left regular mail delivery in limbo.

The Crown corporation said Thursday — a day after it locked out workers and suspended urban mail delivery across the country — that the cheques will be delivered June 20. Included are CPP, Old Age Security, Veterans' Affairs and Canada Tax Benefit cheques. Quebec's Child Assistance, Pension and Income Security cheques as well as Alberta Pension cheques will also be delivered that day.

The federal government plans to table back-to-work legislation Monday as well.

Dollar down amid Greek fears

The Canadian dollar closed lower Thursday, dropping closer to parity with the U.S. dollar for a second day as traders sought a safe haven in the greenback amid fears Greece could default on its debt.

The loonie was down 0.44 of a cent at 101.71 cents US, after going as low as 101.03 cents US earlier Thursday.

Investors are deeply worried that a default in Greece could set off a catastrophic financial chain reaction.

"Markets are jittery because the risk of contagion spreading to other eurozone countries and banks is a key concern," said Rahim Madhavji of Knighsbridge Foreign Exchange.

Two sides reach deal in airline strike

ANDREW VAUGHAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Airports from Vancouver to Halifax, above, saw no major disruptions in service after Air Canada front-line staff walked off the job Tuesday. Strikers are set to go back to work.

▶ Workers set to return Friday ▶ Labour minister credits government intervention for quick end to strike

A tentative collective agreement ending a strike by Air Canada staff contains pay increases, but it will be up to an arbitrator to settle a dispute over pension plans for new hires.

Ken Lewenza, president of the Canadian Auto Workers, said the deal includes higher wages and addresses quality of life and other issues raised by members.

But he said it does not settle the issue of defined benefit pensions.

3,800
Some 3,800 Air Canada customer-service and other staff walked off the job Tuesday.

Lewenza said the union agreed to send the pension issue to an arbitrator in order to minimize the strain on the striking workers.

"For us to prolong the strike as a result of future hirees would absolutely make no sense at this time, but it will give us an opportunity in future years to bargain on behalf of those new hires," Lewenza said.

He said there would be "very slight modifications" to the current pension plan, which would become effective in 2013. Details will not be released until after a ratification vote.

The tentative four-year settlement came less than an hour after Ottawa tabled legislation that would have forced the workers back on the job. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Charge it: Quebec to roll out EV stations

Hydro-Quebec is teaming with several well-known companies to offer Canada's first charging stations for electric vehicles.

Home renovations company Rona Inc., Rotisseries St-Hubert chicken restaurant, grocer Metro and Montreal's suburban transit agency AMT will offer 100 EV stations in Montreal and Quebec City in early 2012.

Each will provide 240 volts of electricity, allowing motorists to travel 25 kilometres after one hour of charging.

$2 Motorists will be charged $2 for each single use of the EV stations and access to a prime parking spot.

The public utility expects to add quick-charging stations of at least 400 volts that give an EV enough power to travel 50 kilometres in just 10 minutes, or 80 per cent of the battery's capacity in 30 minutes.

The companies assured Thursday that the charge stations won't be restricted to use only by their customers. THE CANADIAN PRESS

High-flying loonie could see auto profits crash

The strong loonie is driving up the cost of Canadian employees, which could put pressure on auto parts and vehicle makers to send more jobs to the U.S. and Mexico where labour costs are lower, an independent think-tank says.

The Conference Board of Canada predicts a continued recovery in the auto industry on the back of soaring demand for vehicles in the U.S., providing substantial opportunity for the Canadian sector. But that growth potential will not necessarily benefit Canadian workers in the auto parts and vehicle assembly sectors, the board warns.

A high loonie adds to labour costs in Canada relative to developing countries and makes Canadian exports less cost-competitive, which is prompting auto companies to look south when they make decisions about where to set up new plants, the board said.

"Furthermore, wages of Canadian auto workers are at risk of moving out of line with those of their American counterparts," the board said.

The auto industry and its offshoots, key components of Canada's economy, have enjoyed a swift turnaround since last year after struggling to maintain profits during the economic downturn of 2008-09.

But the board says auto parts makers Magna International, MartinRea and Linamar could be forced to lower prices to compete with foreign manufacturers. THE CANADIAN PRESS

MTS pays up for name

- The new deal for the arena extends until 2021
- Company president calls it a 'no-brainer decision'

Homegrown telecom company MTS Allstream has anted up to keep its name on what will now be an NHL arena in Winnipeg, but the name of the team remains unknown.

MTS president Pierre Blouin wouldn't say how much was paid, but he confirmed it was a lot more than when the American Hockey League's Manitoba Moose played at the arena.

"Because of its importance, it's a few times more," he said Thursday, adding that MTS didn't waste a lot of time taking the plunge.

The original agreement was the best corporate sponsorship the Winnipeg-based company had ever secured, Blouin said. Adding the NHL brand sweetens it a lot. "It's a huge exposure in terms of brand, in terms of name throughout the country."

MTS is a dominant player in both the wired and wireless worlds in Manitoba, but has a tiny footprint nationally compared with companies such as Telus, Rogers and Bell.

MONEY TALKS

FINANCIAL ADVICE FOR NEW CANADIANS

Q Like a lot of new Canadians, I'm having trouble finding a good job. What are the key skills I need to get into the Canadian labour market?

A "Many new Canadians are held back by a lack of soft skills, mostly involving language and culture," says Nick Noorani, a frequent keynote speaker on immigrant issues, founder of Canadian Immigrant magazine and now president and CEO of Destination Canada Information.

"Being able to read, write and speak English or French is one thing; being able to communicate effectively in a business setting is another," says Noorani. "There's so much more to language than just knowing the proper meanings of words. New Canadians often struggle with colloquialisms, slang; they have trouble shifting between the kind of language you'd use for a formal presentation versus, say, a business meeting, or small talk."

There are other barriers. As one of the world's most multicultural countries, Canada has work environments filled with men and women of varied ethnic backgrounds and beliefs. Noorani believes some new Canadians struggle to get ahead because they are unused to such a mix, and may even be uncomfortable working with members of certain groups. "Such attitudes make it hard to get a job," he says, "and even harder to keep one."

If you face these challenges today, here are Noorani's suggestions for solving them.

▶ Nick Noorani is a frequent keynote speaker on immigrant issues.

Volunteer

"Volunteering is a great way to meet people and master soft skills fast," explains Noorani. "But be smart about it. Your volunteering should put you in contact with people who can teach you things and help you find full-time work."

Seek out mentors

Ask about mentoring programs in your community, which can make the adjustment to Canada's labour market much smoother. Mentors needn't be from your own cultural community to be helpful.

Network

Find and attend events for members of your professional community (or the community you hope to join).

Keep an open mind

Interact with people outside your cultural group as much as possible — this will strengthen your communication skills in more ways than you can predict.

Consult the experts

Your province or territory has resources in place to guide you further. Organizations like B.C.'s Association of Multicultural Societies and Service Agencies (AMSSA) is a great starting point. Ontario's Settlement.org is another popular, proven source of information on skills development and career planning, among other things. In Quebec, the provincially endorsed telephone helplines, Info-Alpha and Info Apprendre, provide advice on literacy and adult education and training, respectively.

And there's more. Destination Canada has partnered with RBC Royal Bank® to host the Prepare for Canada seminar series, featuring "7 Success Secrets for Canadian Immigrants©" and "9 Soft Skills No Immigrant Should be Without©" — both free seminars for newcomers to Canada. Visit www.prepareforcanada.com to register.

Finally: be patient! These are challenges we all face when adapting to a new culture. In time, you're sure to overcome them.

DIFFERENT TYPE OF VIRAL KISS

THE METRO LIST

NEIL MORTON
METRO

1 The iconic image: Couple kissing during riots. It was an absolutely horrible Wednesday night in Vancouver. The Canucks lost Game 7 to Boston and then the riots broke out downtown. But the ray of sunshine was an image snapped by a photographer of a couple lying on a tear-gas filled street making out, with riot police in the fore- and background. It's gone viral, and now the whole world is wondering who this mystery couple is.

2 Dirk. The lone superstar of the Dallas Mavericks, Dirk Nowitzki, outplays the superstar trio of LeBron James/Dwyane Wade/Chris Bosh to lead the Mavs to their first NBA title. A dynasty does not begin in Miami. Dirk, meanwhile ... well, he is now recognizable by one name (take that LeBron), and will go down as one of the Top 20 players of all time. (Oh, and there was no rioting in Miami.)

3 Can I be your friend? A man decides to test the etiquette of Twitter and Facebook in the real world by approaching strangers with lines like, "Can I be your friend?" and "Can I write on your wall?" and "Could I poke you?"and "I'm going to follow you." The video he makes is hilarious and has more than 700,000 views on YouTube.

4 Alice's Bucket List. A 15-year-old girl with terminal cancer has become an inspiration to the whole world. She has started a blog, Alice's Bucket List, which lists the many things she still wants to do with her time on Earth. Some tangible, some a dream. Such as: "To make everyone sign up to be a bone marrow donor, to swim with sharks, to go to Kenya (I can't travel there now but I wanted to)." As she says on her blog, "You only have one life ... live it!" So true.

5 A book on Charlie Sheen? Denise Richards is writing a tell-all memoir about her marriage — and nasty divorce — to Charlie Sheen to be released late July. And then she will likely go on a tour. But here's hoping it's nothing like her ex's Violent Torpedo of Truth tour disaster.

6 Air Canada strike over! The feds announced back-to-work legislation, and soon after Air Canada and the Canadian Auto Workers union reached a tentative deal. And across Canada, striking customer-service agents at airports were screaming with delight. The flying public is about to get its best customer service ever with the good mood these agents are in.

7 Reality TV gets real. Many thought Gene Simmons and longtime girlfriend Shannon Tweed were just putting us on when they went on the Today Show Monday and talked about the disintegration of their relationship. But it wasn't just a ratings ploy to get us to watch the season premiere of Gene Simmons Family Jewels. Their relationship is, in fact, coming apart due to his philandering, and watching that episode was one of the more painful, awkward episodes of reality TV ever. Period.

Worth mentioning

LOS ANGELES. Astronomers think they have solved the mystery of an extraordinary flash spied in a faraway galaxy, saying it came from a massive black hole that devoured a star after it wandered too close.

Some scientists initially thought the bright flash was a gamma-ray burst from a star collapsing, but flaring from such an event typically lasts only a few hours.

Instead of fading, the cosmic outburst continued to burn bright and emit high-energy radiation months later.

Two separate teams pored through data and concluded that an unsuspecting star the size of our sun likely got sucked in by the powerful tug of a giant black hole much like a fly that can't escape a frog resting on a lily pad.

As the black hole gobbled up the star, it streamed a beam of energy straight at Earth that was recorded by telescopes. The stellar feast occurred in the heart of a galaxy 3.8 billion light years from Earth. A light year is about 9.66 trillion kilometres.

Fashion you can sink your teeth into

Lady Gaga made history at last year's MTV Video Music Awards when she turned butcher's cuts into high fashion.

On Thursday, the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame was prepared to unveil the singer's infamous raw-meat dress to the public. The dress — made of layers of Argentinian beef — was kept in a meat locker, placed in a vat of chemicals and then dried out by taxidermists in California before being transported to the museum.

Hall of Fame spokeswoman Margaret Thresher said the dress took on a "dark, beef-jerky" look while dehydrating, so it was painted to look "fresh" afterwards. The entire process took several months to complete.

The dress is being displayed as part of the Women Who Rock: Vision, Passion, Power exhibit, which runs until February 2012.

Plot synopsis

- Loosely based on the classic 1938 children's book, the movie sees Jim Carrey playing the title character, a ruthless NYC real estate agent who becomes closer to his estranged family when he inherits a penguin from his late father. Through a series of misunderstandings one penguin becomes six. As the penguins take over his life, Popper's formerly flightless personal life starts to soar.

Lots to like in Penguins

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin agree Mr. Popper's Penguins is a surprise hit ◐ Will appeal to the kids, with enough story to keep adults interested

Richard Crouse: Mark, Jim Carrey is back acting opposite wildlife, but unlike the Ace Ventura movies, this time he's not talking out of his bum, or doing anything that parents may take issue with. Mr. Popper's Penguins is total family entertainment, paced for young ones but with enough story to keep older kids and parents interested. I dreaded this one but actually ended up enjoying it.

Mark Breslin: Me too, Richard. I'm not a big fan of Jim Carrey movies, but this time the comedian keeps his cartoony instincts in check and brings an easy naturalness to the role. The penguins make great foils for Carrey as they are the comedians of the animal world. With their tuxedo pelts, paunches and big noses they look like standup comics from the '50s.

RC: Ha! They do provide most of the laughs in the film, but I'm not sure I would classify this as a comedy. Carrey has a few funny moments, the penguins — who could be more rightly called Mr. Popper's Pooping Penguins — engage in some animal antics, and Popper's "p" popping personal assistant takes alliteration to new heights, but the movie is more about heart than humour.

MB: Maybe that's why I liked it so much: Carrey wasn't working so hard to be "on" all the time. I also appreciated the New York setting, though I found it bizarre that Popper was trying to raze, then save Tavern On The Green when it was just closed and slated for demolition last year. I guess the penguins aren't the only fantasy elements in the film!

RC: It is a fantasy film with a nice even tone for families, but I'm curious what sort of movie it might have been if the original director Noah Baumbach had been behind the camera. He's best known for making edgy family dramas like Squid and the Whale. Mr. Popper's Penguins might have been more interesting to mom and dad if he had directed, but as it is it will appeal to kids, particularly if they've read the book.

MB: I love Baumbach, but I can only imagine his direction would have led to The Squid, the Whale and the Penguins, about a dysfunctional family with lots of flipper wringing. No, the movie ain't broke, so let's not fix it. You're right, it's a great family picture, but also — dare I say this — a good date movie. I may not know much about life, Richard, but I do know this: chicks dig penguins!

Bad Teacher is 'genius,' says Diaz

Movie makes no apologies for bad behaviour Diaz doesn't hold back in her latest role, and it pays off But the film's drug use, sexual content earns it an R-rating

NED EHRBAR
SCENE @METRONEWS.CA

Considering how Cameron Diaz's character behaves in Bad Teacher, the title is something of an understatement.

She smokes pot in the school parking lot. She assaults students for getting questions wrong. She accepts "tutoring money" from parents in exchange for A's for their children.

Her sole motivation is earning enough money for a boob job so she can snag a rich husband. The character is crass, deceitful and usually hungover — in other words, far from glamorous or sympathetic. But that's exactly what Diaz liked about her.

"There was absolutely not one ounce of energy spent trying to make anything about this character likeable. It was genius," says Diaz. "Usually, you spend the last 20 minutes of the movie trying to apologize for the first hour and a half of it because people are afraid of just owning what it is."

Diaz, who has done arguably her best work in comedies with some bite to them, doesn't hold back in her latest role, and it pays off. But given the material, she couldn't really pull any punches.

"Thirty pages into the script, I was like, 'There's no way I'm playing this character. How could I ever redeem her? There's no redemption for her, this is a horrible person,'" she remembers. "Then 10 pages later I was like, 'I think I like her.' And by the end I was like, 'This is amazing because I don't have to apologize.'"

"There was not one ounce of energy spent trying to make anything about this character likeable."
CAMERON DIAZ

Of course, even in a cavalcade of bad behaviour like Bad Teacher, there are some situations Diaz and director Jake Kasdan thought would be going too far, like featuring a teacher-student romance.

"The one thing that Elizabeth doesn't do — one line she doesn't cross — is taking on a seventh grader," Diaz says.

"That's the one thing she doesn't do, thankfully. I don't think I would be down with that. That would be a different movie, clearly."

Not that it would probably matter to MPAA, the organization that doles out ratings for American films — and a group Diaz isn't too thrilled about. (Bad Teacher, with its rampant drug use, foul language and sexual content, unsurprisingly earned an R-rating.)

"It's arbitrary, honestly, the rating system," Diaz says.

"Who's to judge what is R-rated or not? It's all relative, right? It's just to whom is watching it, if it's something inappropriate or not. So I say, get rid of the ratings, man!"

Comic provides 'heart' to Cars 2

Larry The Cable Guy lends his voice to rusty tow truck Mater in Pixar's Cars 2 Comedian brings his own brand of humour to the animated character

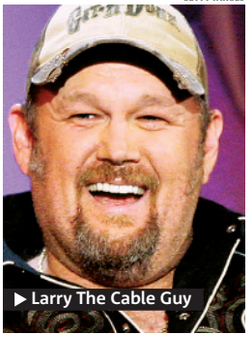
PHIL BROWN
SCENE @METRONEWS.CA

Love him or loath him, there's no denying that Larry The Cable Guy is arguably the most successful comedian today. The man responsible for countless "get er' done" T-shirts and trucker hats created a brand of comedy that attracts vast audiences.

His appeal even extends to children, thanks to lending his voice to Mater in Pixar's Cars. The character was so popular that he got a DVD spinoff, Mater's Tall Tales, and is now the main character in Cars 2.

"I had a feeling that if they made a Cars 2 that Mater would have a larger role because he was so prevalent in that first one," Larry told Metro. "He provided the humour, he provided the heart, he provided the… well, Mater provided pretty much everything."

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Larry The Cable Guy

Mater the rusted tow truck is basically Larry The Cable Guy on wheels, and while the comedian doesn't write the Cars screenplays, he is responsible for most of his lines.

"[Cars 2 director] John Lasseter basically said to me, 'Look, you're the character. You do him better than anyone because you are Mater,'" said Larry. "If I want to change a line I can and I do. John gives me a lot of leeway, which makes for a great recording session because I'm completely free."

But as popular as Mater and Larry have become, the actual comic (who never uses his real name) is far more humble and soft-spoken than you'd expect. Larry is just a character and while the real man has a few other creations, his fictional cable guy isn't going anywhere.

"There's a radio station that I call into as Dead Bing Crosby and nobody knows it's me. I also used to call in as an old woman named Iris. I like doing that sort of thing, but Larry is the one that made me, so I'm not giving him up. It took over my life in a way I never expected."

The Green Lantern
Genre: Action
Director: Martin Campbell
Stars: Ryan Reynolds, Peter Sarsgaard, Blake Lively
●●½

Seven decades after debuting as a DC comic book, The Green Lantern comes to the big screen with Ryan Reynolds as Hal Jordan, a daredevil test pilot who reluctantly becomes an intergalactic guardian as part of the Green Lantern Corp. Equipped with a magic ring and a snappy green Lone Ranger mask he begins his duty by protecting Earth from the evil Parallax.

First the good stuff. The idea that the Parallax feeds off people's fear is a terrifying premise and Peter Sarsgaard's transformation from nerdy Hector to nerdy Hector-with-a-huge-head provides some fun Jekyll and Hyde moments, but the film is bogged down by an over-reliance on CGI.

Because everyone knows anything is possible when you bang together the right bits of binary code, computer-generated action no longer "wows" audiences. So why does director Martin Campbell paint every frame with computer images? Even Jordan's silly little green mask is computer-generated. Was the costumer off the day he needed to don the disguise?

The Green Lantern isn't a bad superhero movie, but it doesn't hold a lantern to some of the seriously good ones we've seen lately like The Dark Knight or Iron Man.

The Art of Getting By
Genre: Drama
Director: Gavin Wiesen
Stars: Freddie Highmore, Emma Roberts
●●

The Art Of Getting By has its moments, but suffers from a pretty serious problem. The main character is a teenager who decides he doesn't want to do homework because he thinks there are more important things in life. He wants to paint, but has no inspiration. He loves a girl, but can't tell her. First-time director Gavin Wiesen creates a pretty funny and insightful look at adolescent indifference. Unfortunately, there's a lack of dramatic thrust built into the subject matter. It's hard to care about a character who has no desire to move forward in life. It's inevitable that a movie about disinterested characters is on a slow train to nowhere.

Beginners
Genre: Drama
Director: Mike Mills
Stars: Ewan McGregor, Christopher Plummer, Melanie Laurent
●●●

Music video guru and Thumbsucker director Mike Mills exorcizes some demons from his father's death with this sweetly melancholic autobiographical comedy. Ewen McGregor plays Mills and Christopher Plummer plays his father who came out of the closet at 75 before dying of cancer shortly thereafter. There's also a painfully realistic love story between the broken character played by McGregor and an equally damaged actress played by Melanie Laurent. It's a movie about life, loss and finding love despite neurosis and crippling depression.

True Legend
Genre: Action
Director: Yuen Woo-ping
Stars: Vincent Zhao, Andy On
◍◍◍◍
No matter how revered the Hong Kong kung fu classic, there's always an undercurrent of absurdity at play, like the American western gone cross-eyed bananas. Choreographer and now director Yuen Woo-ping's (Matrix, Kill Bill) return to Shaw Brothers-esque chop socky, period piece mayhem is no exception — a narratively wonky, cliché-ridden hodgepodge of sensory pleasures that delivers scene after scene of outrageous action with a simple, often silly, story that never distracts from the bone-crunching, wire-hooked, gravity-defying razzle dazzle. Check your brain at the door and just let Yuen's sonic boom rock your socks.

Beautiful Boy
Genre: Drama
Director: Shawn Ku
Stars: Michael Sheen, Maria Bello, Kyle Gallner
◍◍◍½
A deeply unsettling, but ultimately moving film about the parents of a disturbed young man who unexpectedly launches a mass shooting at his college before killing himself. The tragic event occurs off-screen, with director Shawn Ku dedicating his film to the spiral of regret, anger, tears, frustration and self-loathing that parents experience in the wake of such a shooting. Michael Sheen and Maria Bello carry the movie with raw and pained performances that vividly express the complicated emotions experienced by parents in their situation. Nothing is unnecessarily explained or justified, instead Ku crafts an objective study of lost characters. ◍ PHIL BROWN

HANDOUT

► J.J. Abrams' newest film Super 8, which was co-produced by Steven Spielberg, centres around a mysterious train crash that sets off a chain of strange happenings in a small town.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air) :

#23

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON. TRUE EVIDENCE that we are helping people.

#60

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

ACNE
Eczema
Psoriasis
Rosacea
Rashes

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

■ I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried Benzoyl Peroxide, Proactiv, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC ■ In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser, Clean Clear, Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX ■ Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product like Murad, Proactiv and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL ■ Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON ■ I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC ■ All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60. All true experiences from real people.

#26

High Blood Pressure?

High blood pressure is called the silent killer. If your BP is higher than normal, try to get it down to about 120/80. For many people it is easy to control. If it does not work for you we refund your money. On our website you will find over 50 testimonials with full names and towns from all over USA and Canada. Most of them have listed phone numbers and are happy to talk about the relief they had. No money was paid for testimonials.

Dr. C. Hammoud M.H., Ph.D. recommends this effective fish peptide blood pressure natural product. So does Dr. Julian Whitaker M.D. ■ I was on 3 blood pressure drugs that did not work well. After starting Bell #26 my readings are generally well below 120/80. Dona A. Anderson, 76, Sooke, BC ■ My blood pressure was 157/90 and I had side effects from prescription drugs. I bought a monitor. After 6 months on Bell #26 I was down to 120/80. Toni L. McCuistion, 52, Elizabethtown, PA ■ At work my driver's medical test was too high at 170/100. After taking Bell #26 for a few days I went down to 128/84 which allowed me to pass my work medical. Kris Geier, 48, Windsor, ON. All products guaranteed to work.

Other Bell products for relief of the following chronic ailments

(All guaranteed): ■ Bell Shark Cartilage #1 Arthritis pain relief or money refunded. ■ Bladder & Yeast Infection #31 ■ Nursing Mother's Tea #32 ■ HRT Menopause Relief # 33 ■ PMS Relief #34 ■ Viral Infections Virux & Herpes #42 ■ Logevity in Good Health #47 ■ Prevents Colds & Flus Shark Liver Oil #51 ■ Supreme Immune Booster Basic Protection All illness #52 ■ Lyme Immune System #72 . We supply TRUE EVIDENCE! Selena Gomez co-hosts the MMVAs

Since its inception, the MuchMusic Video Awards have always had the feel of a star-studded street party. Behind the scenes though, a lot of planning goes into choreographing the chaos on Queen Street.

"It's one of those shows where anything could happen," says Neil Staite, MuchMusic's director of operations.

"We always try to make sure we can deliver the ultimate fan access. They're an integral part of the show."
NEIL STAITE, MUCHMUSIC'S DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

"You're not only building for what you want the show to be, but what could happen. And sometimes those are two very different things."

Key to the spontaneous appeal of the MMVAs every year are the fans who flock to the corner of Queen and John to catch a glimpse of their favourite artists. The energy they generate rubs off on the performers and presenters, says Staite.

Of course the massive crowds can make getting the presenters to their mark on time a problem. Besides the party on Queen Street, Much also holds a reception inside the building.

Every person appearing on the program gets a wrangler who rehearses from Friday on every possible route and detour to get that artist where they need to be on time.

The show's writers also have a hand in corralling the chaos. They research each presenter before writing a word, says Jason Ford, the supervising producer.

They'll then consult with each artist, sending drafts back and forth in an effort to capture the artist's true voices.

Still, they leave plenty of room for off-the-cuff moments. In 2002 Pamela Anderson brought out then partner Kid Rock. This year Justin Bieber's girlfriend, Selena Gomez, is co-hosting the show and the Biebs has been hinting over Twitter that he might make an appearance.

"That's the kind of thing we'd be prepared for," says Staite.

Back in the day

The genesis for what would become the MuchMusic Video Awards dates back to 1990 and what were then called the Canadian Music Video Awards.

- A far cry from the Queen and John street party we know today, the awards were held on a train, which ran from Vancouver all the way to the East Coast, making whistle stops along the way.
- One of the train's boxcars was converted into a recording studio where bands would perform. "You'd pull into a small town at five in the morning and there'd be 40 or 45 kids waiting in the parking lot," says Staite.

Tormented therapy sessions

Michael: Tuesdays and Thursdays a comedic look at those on the couch

Don McKellar and Bob Martin say they have no shortage of material for their new sitcom, Michael: Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The upcoming CBC show revolves around the twice weekly therapy sessions of tormented Michael and his therapist of 15 years, David.

"Most people involved with the creation of the show are troubled and have been in therapy or will be soon," deadpans McKellar, who directs the Ottawa-shot series. "I haven't been in therapy but I plan to be mid-season."

The stories are loosely based on the real-life neuroses of star Matt Watts, who says he turned to Cognitive Behavioural Therapy — just like the fictional Michael — to cope with issues including a fear of vomiting.

Therapy sessions involve real-world exercises aimed at addressing a range of phobias, which Martin, who plays David, immediately saw as ripe for scripted hilarity.

"I think comedy is really based in fallible characters, not necessarily heroic characters, and all of these characters have problems," says Martin, who also writes and serves as executive producer with McKellar.

"They all have issues, they're all coping in bizarre ways."

While Michael is wracked with anxieties that include cats, buses, strangers, bridges, and girls, David is a workaholic, likes to drink, is using Michael's confessions to score a lucrative book deal and is in the midst of a full-blown mid-life crisis. Michael: Tuesdays and Thursdays is set to debut Sept. 14 on CBC.

No Chicken Little here

Wyle stars in Falling Skies, TNT's new drama about an alien invasion and a struggling, grieving father

These days, Noah Wyle occupies a world devastated by alien invaders.

On his new TNT sci-fi series Falling Skies, he plays Tom Mason, a Boston University history professor whose wife was killed and one of his three sons taken captive in the alien attack.

Tom is second-in-command of a ragtag regiment of survivors in a ravaged Boston suburb. The odds against them seem insurmountable. But they are fighting back. In his new role, Wyle is facing even more challenges than, years ago, in that Chicago emergency room.

On Falling Skies (which premieres Sunday) there are threats aplenty from the mysterious, multi-legged aliens and the killing-machine robots they sic on the Earthlings.

"But there are larger themes," Wyle says. "Beyond surviving, the human characters will need to create the template for the next civilization, which probably won't even be realized in their own lifetimes."

In short, Tom Mason is a history professor helping create new history by looking to the past.

"History is full of inferior forces creating so much trouble that the invading army leaves," Tom tries to reassure his comrades as he reels off several encouraging examples, including a modern case: "Red Socks, Yankees, '04."

Wyle says he wasn't looking to do another series and, while he isn't the first TV star to have said that, he makes it sound convincing. After all, his 11-year weekly hitch as Dr. John Carter on NBC's ER, which ended in 2005, established him as a mainstay of the last blockbuster drama viewers may ever see. What follow-up series could measure up?

"After ER, I wanted to be a stay-at-home dad for a while," Wyle says. (Divorced last year, he has a son, Owen, now 8, and a five-year-old daughter, Auden.) "The game plan, such as it was, was to stay away from episodic television."

But the persistence of TNT (for which Wyle made three films in the Librarian adventure franchise) wore him down with offers for pilot deals, he says. So a couple of years ago, he sought out the advice of a trusted counsellor. He presented his son, Owen, with three series options: He could be a lawyer or a police detective or an alien fighter.

Owen shot him a you're-kidding-me look, Wyle recalls.

The choice was obvious: An alien fighter Wyle would be.

HISTORY OF MUSIC: THE FORMAT WARS (PART 2)

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

Last week, I went through some love-hate battles that have occurred between music and technology over the decades. Here are a few more.

Tapes vs. Tapes
For years, the only source for music in the car was the AM radio. That changed starting with some 1965 Ford models, as the 8-track player was introduced as a factory option. It ruled until the mid-1970s when it was eclipsed by the cassette, which, unlike the 8-track, had a rewind function. In 1982, the last pre-recorded 8-tracks disappeared from stores, although it lived on in the realm of record clubs. Legend has it that the last 8-track ever issued was Fleetwood Mac's Greatest Hits in November 1988. (Good trivia question, that!)

ISTOCK

▶ Remember these? For the youngsters out there, they're called cassettes.

Tapes vs. Vinyl
There was a period in the 1980s when sales of pre-recorded cassettes were greater than those of LPs. Everyone had a Walkman and rather than transferring LPs to blank cassettes, millions just went for the pre-recorded version. Record stores bulged with LPs, 45s, 12-inch singles, cassettes and, for a while, 8-tracks.

Tapes and Vinyl vs. CDs
Before cassettes and vinyl could finish their death match, along came the compact disc. Introduced in late 1982, the record industry was initially dead against them. The last thing they wanted during a brutal recession was another new format with its requisite manufacturing, transportation and warehousing costs, not to mention the investments record stores would have to make on new shelving. Then someone realized that the CD was a way to get music fans to buy their entire music collections all over again.

CDs vs. MP3s
And lo, the times were good as fat margins on CDs and ever-increasing annual album sales made the recording industry a very, very happy place. Things were so good that when, in 1993, a Warner executive discovered leaked versions of a Depeche Mode album trading in chat rooms on the Prodigy network (anyone remember that?) using some weird new technology called the MP3, he brushed it off as inconsequential. Oops.

MP3s vs. Streaming
But MP3s (and similar music files) may not be the endgame. Subscription services like Spotify and Pandora may make possessing MP3s irrelevant. There's no need to own an MP3 if you can get the music from somewhere whenever you want it.

Then again, Apple's iCloud is a shot against streaming, isn't it?

The format wars are far from over.

Natasha Bedingfield is back

And yes, she still performs the theme from the TV show The Hills when she plays in concert for fans Singer talks to Metro about her new outlook

GETTY IMAGES

"I took a big break from the whole process of the music business," says Bedingfield. "It's gimmicky, and it's not always about music."

LINDA LABAN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

It was a beautiful early sunny day in June on Cape Cod, and British pop singer Natasha Bedingfield is taking a few minutes from a rehearsal for a show that predates her first bout of touring for her third album, Strip Me.

"This show's special, it's for charity," she says from the Best Buddies Challenge in Hyannis.

The next day, the 29-year-old heads to Northampton for the first "proper" date on her Less is More tour and, not atypically, the bubbly blonde is excited.

It's been a long time since she toured. After two successful albums, Bedingfield suffered severe burnout.

"I took a big break from the whole process of the music business," she says. "It's gimmicky, and it's not always about music."

"People can tell when it's real. I'm keeping it anthemic, but I'm doing it my way — just good, soulful music."
NATASHA BEDINGFIELD

Stepping back and re-evaluating her life put her back on track. Hence, the seemingly provocative album title: Bedingfield has stripped her life down to what really matters.

"I think everyone is making a move toward that. There's a lot of stuff I thought was meaningful that has become meaningless. We're all seeing so much craziness going on, and it's easy to become crippled with fear. But the reaction I take is to get out and celebrate what we have."

She's also stripped her shows down to a simple three-piece band.

"I'm limiting myself on purpose. I think it's more dynamic like this, more real," she says.

"People can tell when it's real. I'm keeping it anthemic, but I'm doing it my way — just good, soulful music."

Message in a text

Bedingfield, who splits time between London and Los Angeles, tells Metro that she'll be doing some fun cover songs on this tour.

"We're doing a cover of The Police's Message in a Bottle. We're changing the words to 'sending out an SMS' though," she giggles.

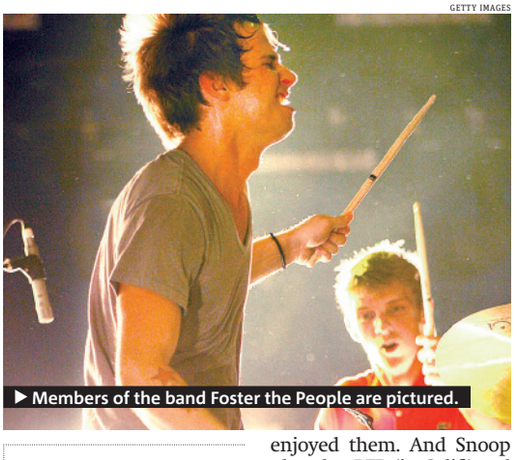
Foster the People foster an audience

Metro got the chance to chat with singer Mark Foster about the band

PAT HEALY
METRO BOSTON
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Members of the band Foster the People are pictured.

Do you like playing festivals as much as doing headlining shows?
I don't know if I like one more than another. I think it's cool at festivals because you tend to play in front of more people than we do at our club shows. So I think it's a good opportunity for people that might go, you know, they might be going there to check out other artists or be curious about us, and kind of stumble into the show and become a fan. And it's also really cool to be able to see other bands that are playing that we haven't seen before as well.

Has anyone that you've seen recently blown you away?
I just saw Cage the Elephant for the first time and that was really fun. I really enjoyed them. And Snoop played at BFD (in Calif.) and that blew my mind. …I've been to quite a few hip-hop shows, but he's just got it down.

Debut

▶ Foster the People's debut album, Torches, was released at the end of May.

Tell me about your connection with Dr. Dre.
They brought me in originally to work on (Dr. Dre's upcoming album) Detox, but then basically switched gears and said that they wanted to get behind me as a recording artist. But they wanted to make a soul record with Raphael Saadiq, and I was making electronic kind of glitched-out music and that was the type of record I wanted to make, so we just didn't really see eye to eye.

It would've been a dream to work with Dre but I didn't want to be the next Billy Joel or anything. I wanted to make the kind of music I was making. And I had a few songs like that. You know, I have some songs that are more classic songwriting, and that's what they were gravitating towards, but my heart was always in the type of music that we're making now with Foster the People.

Aguilera sharing the blame for her divorce

Says that her, Jordan Bratman weren't angels Split up for their child

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Christina Aguilera

Christina Aguilera is opening up about her recent divorce, telling W Magazine that she and ex-husband Jordan Bratman share the blame for it ending.

"At one time or another we were both not angels," Aguilera says. "It got to a point where our life at home was reminding me of my own childhood. I will not have my son grow up in a tension-filled home."

And the singer, who's no stranger to life in the public eye, knew it wouldn't be an easy process.

"I knew there would be a negative reaction in the press to my divorce, but I am not going to live my life because of something someone might say." METRO

Timberlake defends Brit

NOT CHUMP CHANGE. Justin Timberlake is coming to ex-girlfriend Britney Spears' defense after the Femme Fatale singer has been hit with a deluge of criticism online for her current dance moves.

"This thing that happens online bothers me — these anonymous commenters," Timberlake tells Playboy magazine.

"People think they can say anything and it doesn't matter to people," he said.

"I'd love to see the people who comment about Britney online say those things to her face, because they couldn't." METRO

Penn already moving on

CAN'T BLAME HIM. SHE IS CLEARLY NOT VERY ATTRACTIVE Has Sean Penn already moved on after his split from Scarlett Johansson? The Oscar-winner was spotted recently at the Sunset Tower Hotel in Los Angeles where he met up with Franklin and Bash actress Garcelle Beauvais, according to E! Online.

"When she arrived, they moved to the front corner table, which put them on display. They sat inside for a while and even ordered food," a source says. METRO

NOT A FIGHT Crystal Harris says leaving Hugh Hefner less than a week before their wedding was "the right thing to do," she reveals in an interview with Ryan Seacrest.

"He was just doing this wedding for me. He thought that's what I wanted. We're both relieved."

She also insists rumors of a blowout between the two are untrue.

"It was mutual between Hef and I," Harris says. "There was no fight. We sat down and we talked about it."

She claims they are still together and everything is fine otherwise. METRO

Royals turning away the help

Prince William and his new wife, Kate Middleton, are putting the breaks on hiring on new household staff, according to Us Weekly.

"New staff for the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge have been put on hold. The move to Kensington Palace will go ahead but just without the extra household staff. For now," says one source.

Another source adds that Middleton "doesn't want a housekeeper/dresser at Kensington Palace because she doesn't need one right now." METRO

Sharing a brew with dad

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

If it's liquid, I love it. So, I'm sure my father doesn't mind this Father's Day that while I inherited his appreciation for a fine pint of beer, I also spread my love around the wine and spirit world, too.

That said, beer does hold a special place in my heart.

After all, it was the first taste of booze I ever had thanks to my grandfather. (No emails folks. I spit it out much to the enjoyment of dear old Da).

Times have changed in the beer business. Small North American cottage breweries have become red hot by reinventing old school British ales and light beer is on every guy's radar because almost everyone of us has an interest in watching calories.

Though the flavour profile of lighter beers varies dramatically, the addition of a citrus element really levels the drinking field.

Molson Canadian 67 Sublime (12 x 341 ml, $18.12 - $22.99) has a surprisingly robust lemon/lime appeal that adds volumes to what is arguably a pretty subtle beer.

Meanwhile, the 100 calorie Miller Chill Lemon (12 x 355 ml, $21.50 - $23.99) plays down the citrus as it pumps up the volume of refreshing malt.

▶ This T-Bone Steak recipe (a favourite of Alex Rodriguez) makes four servings. The Crème Brûlée, which Albert Pujols loves, makes six.

Hit a Father's Day home run in the kitchen

Make dad something he'll really enjoy: His favourite baseball player's favourite meal ◗ Diamond Dishes by Julie Loria takes you inside the kitchens of some of Major League Baseball's biggest stars

Grilled T-Bone Steaks with Balsamic Onion Confit

There aren't many dishes more satisfying than a sizzling steak with savory side dishes. Alex Rodriguez likes his sides tasty and free of unnecessary fat and calories. This slow-cooked confit fits the bill.

Preparation:

1. Melt butter in skillet over medium heat. Add onions and salt; stir well. Add 1 cup water. Cook, stirring, until water evaporates and onions soften, about 20 mins. Stir another cup of water into onions. Cook, stirring, until water evaporates and onions are tender and begin to brown, about 20 mins.
2. Stir in vinegar and honey. Cook, stirring often to avoid scorching, until onions are caramelized and liquids are syrupy, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and cover skillet to keep onions warm.
3. Meanwhile, prepare fire in outdoor grill. Season steaks with salt and pepper; let stand at room temperature while grill heats. Lightly oil grill grate. Place steaks on grill and cover. Grill, turning after 3½ minutes, until tops of steaks feel somewhat firmer than raw when pressed with a finger, about 7 minutes for medium-rare steak.
4. Transfer each steak to dinner plate. Top with heap of onions and serve at once.

Crème Brûlée

Crème brûlée is a rich custard with "burnt" sugar on top. Albert Pujols likes to stay in shape, but this is the one dessert he finds hard to resist.

You will need a handheld butane kitchen torch and six ¾-cup (6-ounce) ramekins for this recipe.

Preparation:

1. Position rack in centre of oven; preheat to 300°F.
2. Combine cream and sugar in heavy-bottomed saucepan. If using, split vanilla bean lengthwise and scrape seeds into saucepan with tip of knife. Add bean halves to saucepan. Bring to simmer, stirring. Remove from heat. Discard vanilla bean halves. (If using vanilla extract, stir it in now.)
3. Whisk egg yolks in bowl. Gradually whisk in hot cream mixture. Strain through wire sieve into a 1-quart glass measuring cup. Divide custard evenly among six ¾-cup (6-ounce) ramekins or crème brûlée dishes.
4. Arrange ramekins in roasting pan. Place pan on oven rack. Gently slide rack out of oven and add enough hot water to go halfway up sides of ramekins. Carefully slide rack with pan back into oven. Bake until custards are barely set, about 40 mins. (25 mins. if using crème brûlée dishes). Remove pan from oven. Using tongs, transfer ramekins to a wire cake rack and let cool. Cover each ramekin with plastic wrap and refrigerate until chilled.
5. Just before serving, uncover ramekins. Sprinkle 1½ teaspoons sugar evenly over top of each custard. Using kitchen torch, held so flame touches sugar, melt and caramelize sugar in each ramekin. Serve.

These delicious corncakes feature a cinnamon-honey yogurt topping

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ This recipe makes six servings.

Ingredients:

- 175 ml (3/4 cup) stone-ground cornmeal
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) all-purpose flour
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) whole-wheat flour
- 5 ml (1 tsp) baking powder
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) sugar
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) salt
- 300 ml (1 1/4 cups) skim milk
- 300 ml (1 1/4 cups) plain non-fat Greek-style yogurt (divided)
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) vegetable or canola oil, plus more for the griddle
- 4 egg whites
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) honey, or more to taste
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) ground cinnamon

Preparation:

1. In a large bowl, whisk together cornmeal, both flours, baking powder, sugar and salt.
2. In a medium bowl, whisk together milk, 50 ml (1/4 cup) of the yogurt and oil. Add dry ingredients and stir until blended.
3. In another medium bowl, use an electric mixer to beat egg whites to stiff peaks. Gently fold egg whites into batter.
4. Lightly oil a large heavy non-stick skillet or griddle and heat over medium. Working in batches, use about 50 ml (1/4 cup) batter per pancake to make 12 pancakes. Cook until browned and puffed, about 5 minutes per side. Transfer to a plate and cover with foil to keep warm. Repeat with remaining batter.
5. Meanwhile, to make topping, in a small bowl, whisk together honey, cinnamon and remaining 250 ml (1 cup) of yogurt. Serve corncakes with yogurt topping spooned on top.

Home-Cured Bacon

Ingredients:

- 500 ml (2 cups) kosher salt
- 500 ml (2 cups) packed brown sugar
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) ground black pepper
- 1 kg (2 lb) pork belly

Preparation:

1. In a bowl, mix together salt, sugar and pepper. Add any additional seasonings, as desired.
2. Find a container that will hold pork belly comfortably with 2.5 to 5 cm (1 to 2 inches) of space on all sides. A casserole dish is a good choice. Spoon about half of the salt mixture into the container, spreading it in an even layer. Set pork belly over salt, pressing it gently into salt mixture. Pack remaining salt mixture over and around pork.
3. Refrigerate, uncovered, for 6 to 7 days. Remove slab of pork belly (now bacon) from salt mixture. The bottom will resemble wet sand. Discard salt mixture. Rinse bacon under cool running water. Pat bacon dry with a clean towel. Use a very sharp knife to cut bacon into slices, then refrigerate up to 5 days or freeze up to 3 months.
4. Fry or otherwise cook the home-cured bacon as you would purchased bacon.

▶ Stuffing and grilling French Toast gives it a new flavour.

Stuffed Brioche French Toast made on the grill? Yup, it's possible

Ingredients:

- 12 slices brioche, each about 3/4 inch thick
- 6 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 6 heaping tablespoons peach jam
- 8 large eggs
- 1 cup whole milk
- 1 cup half–and–half
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract
- Finely grated zest of 1 orange
- 1/4 teaspoon kosher salt
- 4 large, ripe freestone peaches, quartered
- Canola oil spray

Preparation:

1. Arrange six slices of brioche in baking pan. Spread each slice with 1 ounce of cream cheese, leaving a one–half–inch border at edges. Spread each of other six slices with tablespoon of jam, and then invert them onto the halves with cream cheese, making sandwiches.
2. In bowl whisk the eggs, milk, half–and–half, sugar, vanilla, orange zest, and salt. Pour mix over sandwiches, and let stand at room temperature for 20 minutes, turning once.
3. Lightly spray the peaches with oil. Then prepare the grill for direct and indirect cooking over medium–low heat (about 350°F).
4. Brush cooking grates clean. Tip one sandwich on its side so that any extra liquid runs off. Spray both sides with oil and then place on grill. Repeat with the remaining sandwiches. Grill over direct medium–low heat, with lid closed as much as possible until browned on both sides, 6 to 8 minutes, turning once. Move sandwiches onto piece of foil placed over indirect medium–low heat, close the lid, and continue cooking until the sandwiches are firm in the centre, about 5 minutes. At the same time, grill the peaches over direct medium–low heat until the flesh is marked and the peaches are warm, 5 to 10 minutes, turning once or twice. Remove from the grill and cut the peach quarters in half lengthwise. Serve sandwiches hot with the peaches on top.

35 years of Gaultier's best on show in Quebec

Montreal is sole Canadian stop on exhibit's international tour

So what exactly does fashion icon Jean Paul Gaultier think he's learned most about himself after seeing 30-plus years' worth of his eye-popping creations together in a new show at Montreal's Museum of Fine Arts?

Looking as surprised as someone who's just seen their first cone bra, Gaultier has to think a minute about the question.

"To see all that work at the same time, it's emotional," he says, warming up to the topic. "It's emotion, what I have learned, that I am always sensitive to emotion.

"It's a lot of emotion and also joy because I've had a lot of pleasure. I am one of the lucky ones who does what he loves, what he dreamed to do."

Not that it was all a bed of roses putting together the creations that saw him dubbed not only a genius but the bad boy of fashion, and the father of what some considered decadent designs.

"Doing a collection is quite hard," he said at the show preview on Tuesday. "It's like (giving) birth. It's like my babies, all those clothes. But it's so good at the end that I don't regret anything."

A local cheers to local beers

Beer lovers living in or visiting Ontario wanting to try pairing their beverage with chocolate and cheese or to learn the art of traditional beer-making will get their chance at a weeklong festival devoted to local brews.

Ontario Craft Beer Week kicks off on Father's Day and runs through June 25 with various events around the province designed to expose enthusiasts to the craft beer experience. There will be tasting events, brewery tours, cooking demonstrations, food pairings, beer dinners, music and games, with activities set to take place in breweries, restaurants, bars and outdoor venues throughout the province.

After last year's success, organizers decided to repeat the event and make it an annual affair.

The organization, which includes more than 25 members, aims to encourage the use of fresh, natural ingredients to craft various types of beer in smaller batches.

What went wrong for Canucks?

Plenty of questions swirl around the Vancouver Canucks following a season where they looked like a team with all the answers to win the Stanley Cup.

A 4-0 loss to the Boston Bruins in Game 7 Wednesday night ended the Canucks' dream of winning their first NHL championship in franchise history. A team that won the Presidents' Trophy for the best record in the league came up one victory short of being a champion.

Mike Gillis, the Canucks' general manager, now has to figure out why a club that did so much right during the regular season, and most of the playoffs, suddenly had a lot go wrong in the final.

Why did a Vancouver team that led the league in scoring manage just eight goals in seven games against the Bruins? And get shut out twice?

Where were the Sedins?

And the question that will burn up radio talk shows for the summer, what happened to Roberto Luongo?

How could a goaltender who was solid as a rock some nights shatter like glass in three games in Boston and give up at least two questionable goals on the night his team needed him most?

Coach Alain Vigneault wasn't rushing to give answers.

"I'm not going to analyze this game right now," he said after the loss.

Two ninth-inning runs lift Orioles to 4-3 victory over Blue Jays

Toronto Blue Jays right-hander Zach Stewart was impressive in his major league debut. The only thing missing was a win.

That went to the Baltimore Orioles, who scored two runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Blue Jays 4-3 Thursday afternoon to salvage the finale of the three-game series.

Former Blue Jays reliever Kevin Gregg picked up his 13th save despite giving up Adam Lind's 14th homer of the season to lead off the bottom of the ninth.

Stewart allowed seven hits and two runs — including a solo shot from J.J. Hardy — over seven innings.

"Obviously, I wanted it to be a good outing and so in that sense it was," said Stewart, who had his parents in attendance from Texas and his wife's family from Atlanta.

Stewart, 24, was called up from double-A New Hampshire this week after rookie right-hander Kyle Drabek was demoted to triple-A Las Vegas.

"He was outstanding," Blue Jays manager John Farrell said. "He didn't fear contact, he got ahead in the count and used his fastball and slider to disrupt some timing on some first pitches. Quick innings early on. That certainly relaxed him and he settled into a very nice rhythm."

His last inning, the seventh, might have been his most impressive from the standpoint of composure. He hit Mark Reynolds with a pitch, then got a double-play grounder from Ryan Adams followed by a strikeout to end the inning.

Bruins bring cup to Boston

The Stanley Cup glistened in the morning sun, the nearly 35-pound symbol of NHL supremacy raised high over the head of 255-pound Zdeno Chara.

Then, the captain of the champion Boston Bruins lowered it to his knees. He patiently answered reporters' questions after a night of little sleep and much joy on a flight across North America — from the disappointed city of Vancouver to the title town of Boston.

For the six-foot-nine defenceman and his teammates the heavy lifting was over.

The celebration was on.

"We are pretty OK with that weight," Chara said Thursday, the cup in his grasp as it was when he hoisted it after the Bruins' 4-0 win in Game 7 over the Canucks less than 12 hours earlier.

He walked over to some of the roughly 500 fans who had gathered outside TD Garden, where the Bruins outscored the Canucks 17-3 during the final. He let some of them touch the coveted trophy that hadn't been in Bruins hands in 39 years.

"It's unbelievable. It's very exciting for the whole city, for us, for the whole organization. It's a very special day," said Chara. "We're very honoured to be here. We're so happy."

They won with Brad Marchand, a rookie pest, and Patrice Bergeron, who missed most of the 2007-08 season with a concussion. Each had two goals in the clincher.

"We went out there on a mission, came back champions," Marchand said. "We proved we were the best team in the world."

There will be many more fans lining the streets Saturday for a parade scheduled for 11 a.m., Boston's seventh in the past decade following championship celebrations for the Patriots, Red Sox and Celtics.

BOSTON BRUINS

Cup winners should be able to keep team intact

The Boston Bruins should have an easier time repeating than the last team to win the Stanley Cup.

Unlike the Chicago Blackhawks of a year ago, the Bruins are well-positioned under the salary cap to bring back virtually the same squad that ended a long championship drought.

In fact, only four players that suited up for Wednesday's Game 7 victory over the Vancouver Canucks are headed for free agency and one of them, 43-year-old forward Mark Recchi, is retiring.

No wonder some members of the team took a break between sips of champagne to look ahead.

"The future looks bright with all the guys that we have," said Bruins forward Patrice Bergeron, who had two goals in the deciding game.

If anything, general manager Peter Chiarelli might be looking to add a few pieces. He has $52.2 million US committed to 18 players next season — leaving him roughly $10 million to spend with the cap expected to be set around $62 million.

He will also likely get back the $4 million in cap space dedicated to forward Marc Savard, who is expected to retire because of ongoing concussion symptoms.

Chiarelli's biggest decision will be determining the fate of defenceman Tomas Kaberle, who failed to provide the power-play boost the Bruins were looking for when they acquired him from Toronto midway through the year. The veteran earned $4.25 million this season and is an unrestricted free agent.

Forward Michael Ryder is also eligible to become unrestricted July 1 after earning $4 million.

The only other Bruins regular in need of a contract is Brad Marchand, who earned himself some extra money by scoring 11 times in the playoffs, including two in Game 7 of the final. The pesky forward is a restricted free agent who averaged a little more than $821,000 on his entry-level deal. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seven points to watch this CFL season

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
LONDON@METRONEWS.CA

Let's kick off the 2011 CFL campaign with seven questions that should get answered between the season openers on Canada Day weekend to the time the Grey Cup is hoisted Nov. 27 in Vancouver.

1 Needing 4,200 yards to overtake Damon Allen as the CFL's career passing yards leader, Anthony Calvillo still can't get his name on many lists of the CFL's all-time greatest quarterbacks. Critics argue Calvillo lacks arm strength and mobility, both valid claims, and that his career stats are the product of longevity instead of talent. Yet late this season, A.C. should eclipse Allen's passing mark, a staggering stat north of 72,000 yards, while challenging for a third consecutive Grey Cup ring. Will it finally be enough to help Calvillo receive the respect he deserves?

2 Greg Marshall has waited a lifetime to earn his first head coaching job, taking over from Ken Miller as Saskatchewan's boss. Countless times Marshall has been a bridesmaid when CFL teams were courting head coaches, despite earning respect as one of the league's top defensive gurus. Marshall deserves this opportunity, but when a candidate gets passed over that many times, you have to wonder: Do other teams know something the Riders don't?

3 The Calgary Stampeders have been a perennial Grey Cup contender since QB Henry Burris arrived in 2005. But with just one championship ring in six seasons and after two straight West final losses, is time running out for the 36-year-old Burris and his talented group to claim another?

4 B.C. Lions boss Wally Buono believes in QB Travis Lulay so deeply he has given the young pivot the starting role in Vancouver. Will the green Montana slinger develop into a quarterback the likes of Dave Dickenson or Jeff Garcia, two other top passers Buono helped groom?

5 The Edmonton Eskimos aren't used to losing and have handed the controls to GM Eric Tillman, who will guide an intense rebuilding program. With a new coaching staff, can Tillman quickly produce the winning results green and gold fans demand?

6 For the second consecutive season, the Toronto Argos are destined to enter the season without a legitimate starting quarterback. The three main contenders — Cleo Lemon, a failure last season, along with backups Steven Jyles and Dalton Bell — hardly strike fear in the hearts of opponents. Who is going to help the Argos find the end zone?

7 Winnipeg's 4-14 record last season hardly suggests the team is on the verge of a Grey Cup appearance, but nine of those losses were by four points or less. Can Winnipeg turn those close losses into victories in 2011 and earn a playoff spot?

Peanut ,
A year ago today you began your battle with the Big C--2 surgeries, 7 mths of treatments, 15 rounds of chemo, all with a smile on your face. But you beat it and inspired so many this past year. A hero at age 3. We love you--and, today, we will celebrate your diagnoseversary! oxoxo MOMMY

Adrian Mihai
Hey baby, love you much, hope you will be soon with me, miss you a lot. Love you, from NICOLE <3

Dear Nader
Happy Father Day, Nader! You are such a caring and kind father. Ali and I are so lucky to have you in our life. Love you so much! Thanks for being there whenever we need you! Ali & Noushin ALI & NOUSHIN

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 The winds of fate will soon blow you in a new direction. There's a few days to finish what you're working on.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You may be at a low ebb at the moment but it won't be long before your enthusiasm for life returns.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 The more others say you need to act now, the more likely it is their motives are selfish.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 What you imagine today, will be reality tomorrow. Let your mind roam.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 If you throw in the towel on something you find difficult, you'll regret it soon.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 The only reason a colleague is trying to put the spotlight on your errors is because he or she doesn't want others to see his or her mistakes.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You don't lack for ideas as to how you can improve your life and you don't lack for confidence either.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Some are saying you are aiming too high. As usual, they are wrong.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Negative thoughts tend to be self-fulfilling, don't let them take root.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Listen to your instincts if they tell you that something is wrong.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 You may find it hard to get along with colleagues but just smile when they do something stupid.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Cosmic activity in the sympathetic sign of Cancer makes it easy for you to understand why people act the way they do. SALLY BROMPTON
